BIG SEA, AIR BATTLE OFF FORMOSA

Yanks Withdraw From Ft. Driant

OUTSIDE FT. DRIANT, France, Oct. 16 (AP)—American troops have withdrawn under cover of night from their small footholds inside Ft. Driant five miles southwest of Metz, after blowing up enemy installations.

The withdrawal climaxed 10 days of close quarter fighting in which Lt. Gen. Patton's Third Army doughboys penetrated only 100 yards into one of the underground passages of the bristling fortress, honeycombed by a myriad of tunnels.

They cut down steel doors with acetylene torches and fought from entrance to entrance. But they were handicapped in efforts to advance in upper portions of the fort by mushroom pillboxes which were raised hydraulically to fire upon the soldiers who had passed them.

The fort, one of the main bastions guarding Metz, was pounded heavily from the air and by Third Army artillery with only slight effect.

Even though the infantry was withdrawn after holding the northwestern and southwestern corners for several days, the fort and adjacent strongholds on both sides of the Moselle were still under heavy fire from American guns.

Smile of Victory—Blonde Lorna Slocombe, stenographer, of Holyoke st., Cambridge, today smiles a smile of victory as she leaves the East Cambridge District Court after a charge of malicious destruction of crockery brought against her was dismissed. Miss Slocombe jumped into the national limelight when she became irritated by a waitress' query, "Don't you know there's a war on?" and swept out of the Fiske Tea Room in Harvard sq. to the tune of crashing crockery. Today, the tea room which brought the complaint asked that it be dropped. STORY ON PAGE 3 INP by Edwin Stephan

Big Formosa Battle

By Associated Press

Superforts struck at Formosa again today as Tokyo radio reported Japanese naval and air units were pursuing "annihilative operations against the arrogant" U. S. carrier force that bombed the strategic island for three days.

The first War Department announcement on the second Formosa raid by B-29's said merely they attacked military targets. The raid, covering the withdrawal of Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's carrier forces, may have been a return visit to Okayama, arsenal city described as "the most important air target south of Japan," hit Saturday by a record formation of Superforts.

Japanese broadcasts reported the Jap fleet had at last come out of hiding and was "in pursuit of the fleeting enemy task force." Imperial communiques asserted that 16 American warships, including 10 carriers, were sunk and 19 others damaged.

Jubilant Japanese broadcasts quoted Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso as saying "the long-awaited opportunity for Japan's battle in the Pacific has come." Jap "naval observers" were reported to have said "the avowed enemy offensive against the Philippines has been dealt a sledgehammer blow."

A Berlin broadcast said a Tokyo dispatch quoted a Jap naval spokesman as saying:

"At the end of the still raging battle Adm. Halsey's fleet will have vanished from the seas. This is a victory which will make the victories of Hawaii and Malaya appear like a sideshow."

One Domei propaganda dispatch compared the action to "the decisive victory over the Czarist Russian Baltic fleet 39 years ago." Another reported scenes of wild joy in Japan in celebration of the reported defeat of "the arrogant enemy task force."

(Ed Note: These Japanese claims are in line with previous fantastic boastings which have invariably proved to be false.)

The action in Philippine waters, Domei reported, followed a raid on Manila Sunday by 60 American carrier-based bombers and fighters. Domei asserted 18 raiders were shot down. It admitted "extremely light losses" and conceded that some Jap planes failed to return from the attack.

In a message to the nation on "the brilliant war results scored by Japanese army and navy forces," Premier Koiso said "the long-awaited opportunity for Japan's battle in the Pacific has come."

"Our army torpedo planes," he added, "have been showing their mettle side by side with our navy air force in the present action."

Radio Tokyo, in a broadcast recorded in London, asserted a "great defeat" of United States naval forces east of Formosa has postponed the "impending invasion of the Philippines by at least two months."

The Jap fleet, long sought by American commanders in the Pacific, has not bee nmentioned in Adm. Nomitz's reports on the Formosa action. His reports, still incomplete, listed 487 Jap planes as destroyed, 63 enemy ships sunk or damaged, against a loss of 45 U. S. planes.

Yanks Nip Aid to Aachen

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—British patrols crossed the Neder Rhine today in probing expeditions where the British First Airborne Division failed three weeks ago to hold a Netherlands bridgehead menacing Germany's north flank.

A twin Canadian drive to wipe out German troops holding the seaward approaches to Antwerp gained ground in southwestern Holland, and at Aachen American troops for the second successive day fought off German countersmashes while gradually gaining blocks in a slow, methodical fight within the city.

At the southern end of the long Allied Western front, a supreme headquarters communique announced the Seventh Army group had "gained momentum" in an advance in the Vosges mountains north of the Belfort gap. Several towns were freed, including Baccarat, Glonville, Fontenoy and Fremifontaine.

For three hours today the Germans gave furious battle with infantry and tanks in a desperate counterattack at Aachen, but a storm of American steel smashed the effort to knife through to the besieged Nazi garrison, field dispatches reported. Four enemy tanks were knocked out.

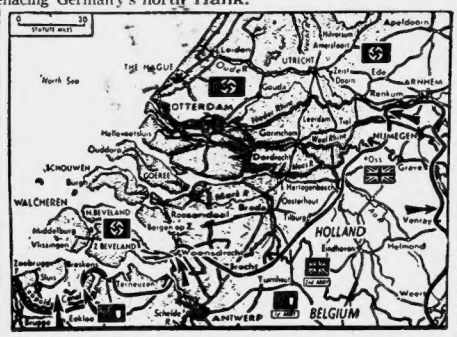
The Paris radio said German resistance east and southeast of the Schelde pocket went of Antwerp had suddenly collapsed and "the entrance to Antwerp harbor is now clear." This was not confirmed.

Swiftly capitalizing upon a link up along the western shore of Savojaargs Plaat, Canadians plunged westward and joined their Leopold canal bridgehead forces in the Watervliet area.

With a firm base organized for an assault on the final German positions in the pocket around Breskens, other Canadian outfits drove north of Antwerp and finally clinched control of Woensdrecht at the mouth of the causeway leading to Zuid Beveland and Walcheren, islands guarding the north side of the estuary.

Walcheren island was reported 75 per cent flooded from breaches in dikes caused by Allied earthquake bombs, but the Germans' elevated guns on the dikes still could fire and the two principal cities, Vlissingen (Flushing) and Middelburg, still were above water.

Freeing of Antwerp to Allied supplies was high in the priority of Allied operations.



WESTERN FRONT—Canadians driving from beachheads east of the Breskens have contacted other forces pushing north from the east en dof the Leopold canal thus opening the entrance to Antwerp harbor and clearing the Schelde river estuary.

Yanks Capture Gateway to Po

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

ROME, Oct. 16 (INS) — American Fifth Army Forces today captured the bitterly contested town of Livergnano, gateway to the Po valley.

Capture of the town removed the last remaining Nazi-held pinnacle between the Yank positions and the vital city of Bologna 10 miles north.

The Germans defended the strategic gap with fanatical determination for four days, despite unceasing Allied air, artillery and infantry assaults around the clock.

Marshal Von Kesselring repeatedly threw in reinforcements to fill the gaps blasted in his ranks by Yank artillery and armored units.

In addition to the casualties Kesselring has lost almost 8000 prisoners to the Yanks since their drive against Bologna started.

Chaos in Hungary Seen Opening Road to Vienna

By WADE WERNER

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Hungary has toppled into political chaos after Regent Nicholas Horthy's dramatic bid for peace.

Horthy's quick eclipse—at least on the Budapest radio—by Count Ferencz Szalasy's last-ditch crowd of Arrow Cross Nazis only emphasized that Hungarians were fighting among themselves instead of against the invading Red army. Reports via Stockholm today said in some places they were fighting the Germans, too.

This all added up to a melting of the barrier between the Red army and a great drive past Budapest to Vienna and a possible final decision in the east.

The Germans took quick measures to stave off the debacle but admitted through the official German news agency that Horthy's petition for an armistice had "greatly damaged the waging of the war."

Berlin dispatches to Stockholm papers said Nazi troops swiftly took over strategic buildings in Budapast and a new government shortly would "try to get Hungarian troops to continue battle on the German side." One report said Horthy had escaped arrest and was holding out in a strongly-fortified castle.

A Transocean broadcast from Germany said a "detailed declaration" on Hungarian developments would be forthcoming later. Meanwhile Berlin's morning papers refrained from mentioning Hungary.

That Hitler and his advisers should pause for some fast thinking before explaining the Hungarian collapse to the war-weary German people was only natural. It was far more than the defection of Hitler's last satellite—it must seem to any German like the crashing of the gate guarding the Reich's most vulnerable area.

Pro-German elements, presumably aided by German SS divisions rushed to Budapest from Vienna, apparently seized control of the country immediately after the petition for an armistice was broadcast early last evening in an order of the day signed by regent Horthy.

Within a few hours another broadcast from Budapest announced that the Hungarian Nazi party headed by Ferec Szalasi had "taken matters in hand to eliminate traitors at all costs," and promised the most ruthless measures, including the death penalty, would be imposed on those disobeying orders.

Germans Evacuating Greece

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—British and Russian forces were attacking the Germans in "interference operations" designed to "slow down the German retreat and hinder building up a new German front."

"These 'interferences' may be possible but the German concentrations cannot be hindered."

A dispatch from Rome said a strong British naval force has arrived at Piraeus, the port of Athens, to disembark troops.

The fleet, headed by the 7000-ton cruiser Orion, included the cruisers Ajax, Aurora and Black Prince, several destroyers and various other units of both the British and Greek navies.

Reliable reports in Cairo indicated all of the Cyclades Islands in the Aegean sea southeast of Greece would be liberated in a matter of hours. The RAF said the garrison on Naxos surrendered yesterday.

PETSAMO FALL CUTS NAZIS' ESCAPE ROUTE

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The German sea escape route from northern Finland has been cut with the capture of the Arctic port of Petsamo. Advancing Red army tanks were reported today to have won an important road junction close to the Norwegian border.

Pravda of Moscow described the newly won highway center as the "key to Norway," without naming it further, and said it had been captured after Russian forces beat off a counterattack by a German armored column retreating toward Norway.

Moscow did not report on progress of the Red army in Hungary where Hungarian Nazis were reported to have imposed a rule of terror following an armistice petition by Regent Horthy.

The battle for Belgrade was not mentioned in the official Soviet communique, but Berlin acknowledged Russian troops and tanks and Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partison had fought their way into the city.

Berlin implied also other Soviet troops had entered German East Prussia on a 27-mile front in the Memel territory.

Moscow announced Red Army troops had advanced three miles west of fallen Riga.

In Yugoslavia, the Russians announced the fall of Pozarevac, an important communications point 36 miles southeast of Belgrade, as well as Krusevac, 95 miles southeast of the capital.

Churchill, Stalin Talk on Speedup

MOSCOW, Oct. 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin conferred for an hour yesterday with British and American representatives in what was understood to be a broad overall discussion on how to bring the war in Europe to a speedy close.

The statesmen met with Maj. Gen. J. Russell Deane, chief of the U. S. military mission to the Soviet Union; Lt. Gen. Brocas Burrows, chief of the British military mission; Field Marshal Brooke, chief of the British imperial staff, and Gen. Sir Hastings Ismay, Churchill's chief of staff.

Court Frees War-Query Dish Buster

All ended happily in East Cambridge court today for blonde Miss Lorna Slocombe, the typist who left a trail of broken crockery in her wake after a Brattle sq. tearoom hostess asked her: "Don't you know there's a war on?"

When Miss Slocombe appeared to face the charge she had maliciously cracked the crockery of the complainant, The Fiske tea room, the complainant gallantly asked that the case be dismissed. "It is a very unfortunate situation," explained Atty. Thomas G. Sullivan, representing the eatery.

Atty. Joseph P. Rooney, for Miss Slocombe, also asked for dismissal. "We admit Miss Slocombe was in the tea room and we admit she was upset," he told Judge Arthur P. Stone, "but this would not seem to be a criminal case. It should be a civil action if anything."

Judge Stone ordered the case dismissed. He said:

"I can't say I am approaching the case without information. I have received letters from Michigan, New York and other states, all telling me what I ought to do.

"I would call it a tempest in a teapot," he added, "or a tempest in a restaurant."

The point was, he said, did Miss Slocombe smash the dishes accidentally or deliberately. "If she did it deliberately," he went on, "she is guilty; if she did it accidentally, she is not guilty. Words are not provocation for physical action."

However, the jurist said, inasmuch as the tea room and Miss Slocombe obviously wanted to forget the whole business, he would order the case dismissed.

Miss Slocombe, who left on the arm of a young man, declared. "I am a happy woman."

She declined to identify her escort. "He's just a friend of mine," she said.

The court action was the finale in a seriocomic drama that captured national interest. Miss Slocombe was arrested and ushered into a Cambridge police cell Oct. 4. She had asked the tearoom attendant for squash instead of potatoes. The hostess had haughtily come back with: "Don't you know there's a war on?" Miss Slocombe swished out to the tune of dishes breaking.

Throughout the land, men and women sprang to their fountain pens and typewriters. Plaudits, money and offers of money came to Miss Slocombe, then out on bail. Her telephone rang so often she had to hire a secretary so she could get work done at her Holyoke st., Cambridge, typist agency.

Despite Miss Slocombe's declaration the crash of the crockery was an accident, her well-wishers preferred to believe she had deliberately given the old heave-ho to the plates and saucers, and they eulogized her for rebelling at "that senseless question."

In Oklahoma City, 2744 admirers donated a penny apiece and sent her a check for $27.44 through the Daily Oklahoman. The editor told her it was a "Pennies from Heaven" check.

A Georgia hotel proprietor invited her to stay free at his inn, promising she could have squash any time she wanted it. Everything would be on the house, he wrote.

A Harvard sq. business man gave the tearoom two dollars to pay for the breakage.

"Maybe this incident will make people stop saying 'Don't you know there's a war on?'" mused Miss Slocombe. She certainly knew about the war, she declared. She is a seven-time blood donor, for one thing.

Today, exiting from court, she said she trusted everyone would quiet down now and let her get some typing done.

Hurricane Heads Toward Havana

HAVANA, Oct. 16 (AP)—A tropical hurricase moving northwestward in the Caribbean sea is increasing in intensity and seriously threatening Havana and Pinar Del Rio provinces, the National Observatory said early today.

A midnight advisory bulletin said the center of the disturbance was less than 30 miles southwest of Grand Cayman island, where the weather post reported winds reaching a velocity of 115 miles an hour last night.

3 Flying Bombs Downed Over England

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—An exceptionally intense ack-ack barrage met flying bombs fired during the night against Southern England and at least three were blasted from the sky.

Mothers Who Know There's War Tell Their Disgust at Hated Query

In a mother's heart there is no ache like the separation from a beloved child, and many mothers are writing each day to the Boston Amreican to tell of their disgust with the often repeated query: "Don't You Know There's A War On?"

There is still time for YOU to write to the I-Know-There's-A-War-On Editor, Boston American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass., and tell of your own experience with this perpetual question and just why you know that a war is going on.

The writer of the best letter on this subject will be given a $50 War Bond while $3 will be paid for each letter published. Letters must not exceed 100 words in length, and civilians only are eligible to enter the competition.

"I know there's a war on when I don't have to close HIS window in the morning, call HIM for school and ask what HE wants for breakfast," writes Mrs. M. D. of Salem. "Mothers, wives, true lovers know, as I know, there isn't any ache just like this ache. Where is my boy tonight? Father in Heaven be merciful to him and to all our boys."

"Does the war worker, who strikes for a nickel or dime more pay when servicemen need their work, know?" asks J. H. P. of Dorchester. "Does the half-hour telephone gabber know? Does the train berth and seat robber know? Does the black market patron know? If all these people really knew, this phrase could really be ridiculed."

"I wanted to buy a birthday gift for my mother," says 12-year-old B. P. of Roxbury. "The saleslady asked me if I knew there was a war on. My 13-year-old brother and I do the best we can as mother is a war worker. We'll never forget there's a war on for we lost our Daddy in the Merchant Marine in 1942."

"I know because we miss those near and dear," writes E. C. L. of Boston. "Because uniforms are everywhere, because of bond drives, blood banks, rationing, because of going without and making do. On one side is the lovely spirit of helpfulness and cheer. On the other, a new wartime impertinence. Good manners smooth the pathway. Rudeness is never 'smart' in war or peacetime."

"Yes, my wife and I know there's a war on," explains E. R. of Cambridge. "We have an only son in the South Pacific and he has ended up by contracting tropical fever. I saw his mother's hair turn gray as she kissed his picture each day with a prayer for his safe return. We need no reminder there is a war on."

SISTER KENNY CALLED TO AID WESSELHOEFT

By JACK McLEAN AND TOM RILEY

Sister Elizabeth Kenny, renowned Australian nurse, whose skill and science have aided hundreds of infantile paralysis victims, has been called in by physicians at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital in Washington to treat Lt. Robert Wesselhoeft, Jr., of Westwood.

This was learned exclusively today by the Boston Evening American and confirmed in a long distance telephone call to Sister Kenny's secretary in Minneapolis.

"Sister Kenny has already visited Lt. Wesselhoeft and is returning to Washington on Wednesday and will probably see him again," her secretary said. "I cannot say who requested Sister Kenny to enter the case, except that the request was from a physician."

Sister Kenney was in Chicago today demonstrating methods of healing to a group of surgeons, her secretary said.

The Westwood lieutenant, stricken with polio in remote Tibet last June while on a photo-mapping expedition, has been under exclusive care of Army doctors since his dramatic rescue and 65-hour flight from India to Washington.

Shortly after it was learned that Lt. Wesselhoeft was under care of Sister Kenny, the stricken soldier's pretty brunette wife, Mrs. Nancy Stevens Wesselhoeft, arrived back in Boston by plane after a week's visit with him in Washington.

She disclosed that her husband, who has now been out of the iron lung for a week, will be confined to Walter Reed Hospital for more than a year. She hopes to move to Washington with her two children, Marjorie, 4, and Robert 3rd, 6 months, as soon as she can find an apartment there.

SISTER ELIZABETH KENNY

"I had a delightful visit," she said in an interview at the East Boston airport. "I found my husband feeling fine. He had been out of the iron lung twice and had to go back in it, but this time he's been out for a week, and that's encouraging.

"I brought him pictures of the children, and that pleased him greatly. He's looking forward to the day soon when he can talk with Marjorie on the phone.

"We are all glad the worst is over. It was mighty good to see Bob again, but the trip was a strain. I lost weight and kept on the go all the time. But it was worth it."

Lt. Wesselhoeft's courageous fight against the disease and his amazing and dramatic rescue constitute one of the epic stories of the war. He is the nephew of Dr. Conrad Wesselhoeft, chief surgeon of the Haynes Memorial Hospital, and a cousin of Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall, wife of the Governor.

Gov. Dewey to Answer Hershey in Talk Tonight

By JACK BELL

EN ROUTE TO ST. LOUIS WITH DEWEY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Gov. Dewey shaped a new attack today on the administration's demobilization plan to supplement his assertion that President Roosevelt is attempting to "hide behind evasions by his associates" on GOP-raised campaign issues.

James C. Hagerty, the New York governor's executive assistant, indicated that Dewey planned to reply—probably in his St. Louis speech tonight—to a letter written by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, to the President.

Dewey asserted in his Sept. 7 speech in Philadelphia that Hershey had said it would be necessary to demolilize the armed forces gradually after the war, attributing to Hershey the statement "we can keep people in the Army about as cheaply as we could create an agency for them when they are out."

Hershey wrote President Roosevelt that this statement, made at a news conference in Denver last August, represented "personal opinion in a field over which I have no responsibility."

Dewey asserted yesterday that "Mr. Roosevelt confesses that every single statement I made in my Oklahoma City speech was exactly correct down to the last period and comma" in a document released through the White House Saturday purporting to answer the GOP nominee's accusations.

"Mr. Roosevelt's failure to prepare this country and the resulting price we have had to pay is established out of the mouths of his own followers," Dewey declared in a statement.

The document released by the White House listed 10 statements made by Dewey in his Sept. 25 Oklahoma City speech bearing on the state of preparedness for war, the difficulties encountered in the war production program, and statements made by the President before the United States became involved in hostilities.

Saying that this was exactly the same statement issued ten days earlier by Paul Porter, director of publicity for the Democratic National Committee, for the use of Democratic speakers, Dewey declared:

"It seems regrettable that the man who wants to be President for 16 years should find it necessary to hide behind evasions by his associates and should sink to using the White House to make a headline for a 10-day old release by the publicity director of his party."

The former Gloria Callen, holder of 31 national swimming records, and her husband, Lt. Herbert E. Jones, Jr., of Charleston, W. Va., leave Columbia University Chapel in New York after their marriage. Lt. Jones recently returned from submarine duty in the Pacific.

Bricker Puts Coast States in GOP Bag

By E. E. EASTERLY

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Oct. 16 (AP)—Reviewing the first two weeks of his western campaign for the vice-presidency, Gov. John W. Bricker said today he was convinced that California, Washington and Oregon would give a majority to the Republican ticket in the Nov. 7 election.

And, he added in a prepared speech released by his campaign staff, so will Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, all of the middle West, New York, New England and Pennsylvania.

The Ohio governor remarked "there are increasingly encouraging signs in the border states, too, as I have learned on my recent visits to Maryland, Kentucky, Missouri and Tennessee."

Continuing his six-day tour of California after a Sunday devoted to sight-seeing at San Francisco with Gov. Earl Warren, Bricker said:

"Everywhere—from Maine to California and from Tennessee to Minnesota—I have been inspired by the great outpouring of militant voters. At these meetings, literally thousands of men and women have expressed to me their deep convictions about the issues of this campaign.

"Regardless of the states or sections in which they live, regardless of whether they are white-collar workers, housewives, laboring men, farmers, small business men, or big business men, and of past political affiliations, they are of one mind. They are determined to effect a change in the National Administration in Washington."

Bricker's staff disclosed today that in his nation-wide radio broadcast from San Diego tomorrow he would attempt to show that the Democratic national administration had become reactionary and that the Republican party was liberal.

Cop Pay Boost Petitions Out

Thousands of petitions, demanding immediate action by Mayor Tobin on a proposed $200 annual salary increase for firemen and police officers, were circulated in Boston today by Samuel G. Thorner, counsel for the Boston AFL Firemen's Union.

Thorner declared the circulation of the petitions was started because of the failure of the mayor to act on the increases.

He said the petitions were intended as a "referendum" to indicate to the mayor, Police Commr. Sullivan, Fire Commr. Reilly and the Boston City Council, the feeling of Boston citizens on the proposal.

The petitions request "an immediate increase be granted firemen and policemen to compensate for extraordinary hours of employment and rising living costs, in order that the morale and self-respect of these uniformed public servants, who are the true guardians of the lives, safety and property of every citizen, may be maintained."

Mayor Tobin announced Wednesday it might be possible to grant increases to police and firemen by Dec. 1 because of surpluses in the budgets of municipal departments.

At the same time he said he planned to review compensation of other low-paid city employes.

Thorner, a former assistant district attorney of Suffolk County, has long fought for more pay for police officers, pointing out that Boston is ninth in population but ranks 138th in payment of salaries in the nation.

4000 Volunteers Aid Jewish Appeal

The 1944 Combined Jewish Appeal, greatest fund raising endeavor ever attempted by the Jewish Community in this area, got under way today in 17 Greater Boston cities and towns with 4000 volunteer workers making house-to-house solicitation for funds to support the 50 agencies sponsored by the drive.

The three-week campaign was launched at a dinner at the Hotel Statler, where 1500 persons, including many prominent in civic, business and professional life, heard impassioned pleas for aid in rescuing the survivors of Hitler's campaign of persecution and oppression.

Featured speaker was John W. Pehle, executive director of the President's War Refugee Board to Jewish, Catholic, Protestant and non-sectarian relief agencies, who asserted that the atrocities of Hitler had reduced the Jewish population of the world by one-third.

Pehle praised the Catholic Church for its efforts to prevent persecution of Jews, and he paid tribute to Archbishop Spellman and the late Alfred E. Smith for the prominent parts they played in aiding the cause of the helpless Jews of Europe.

"The record of the Catholic Church in this respect has been inspiring," he said. "All over Europe Catholic priests have furnished hiding places and protection to the persecuted. His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, has interceded on many occasions in behalf of refugees in danger.

"In this country, too, we have received help from Catholic leaders. At a most critical point in the Hungarian situation, Archbishop Spellman wrote a truly impressive supplication to the Catholics of that country to protect and help the Jews. This moving statement was broadcast in Hungarian and reprints of it were dropped over Hungary.

"Of great assistance, too, was a statement of protest against Hungarian atrocities prepared by the late Alfred E. Smith in conjunction with over 100 other non-Jewish leaders.

Gov. Saltonstall, expressing his pleasure to join again in the opening of a new appeal, said that now more than ever is aid necessary.

Other speakers were: Dr. Abraham A. Neuman, president of Dropsie College, Philadelphia; Judge Jacob J. Kaplan, president of the Associated Jewish Philanthropies; Henry A. Laughlin, general chairman United War Fund Drive and Louis H. Salvage, general chairman of the 1944 Combined Appeal, who presided.

JEWISH APPEAL LEADERS—Campaign leaders of the combined Jewish appeal now formally opened in Boston, include . . . (l. to r., front) Joseph M. Limey, chairman, business men's council; Herman Gilman and George Alpert, vice-chairmen of the campaign; (back row) Louis H. Salvage, general chairman of the appeal, and Henry A. Laughlin, chairman of the United War Fund drive.

Marine Indicted In Girl's Murder

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Marine PFC Earl McFarland was indicted today on two counts of first degree murder and one of criminal assault in the slaying of 18-year-old Dorothy Berrum on a public golf course two weeks ago.

The 21-year-old veteran of action in the southwest Pacific faces a mandatory death penalty if convicted of either of the murder counts. A similar penalty could be recommended by the jury on the third accusation.

McFarland was arrested Oct. 6, a day after the body of Miss Berrum, a government clerk from Chippewa Falls, Wis., was found garroted on the Haines Point golf course.

Save for Clothes, Business Girl Told

Counting your pennies and budgeting your unimpressive salary may not sound like the first step toward a glamorous career, but this is the advice of a Somerville girl who, after only five months in the business world, is well on her way to one.

Since graduation from Simmons last June, Elvia Knox, 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Knox of Belmont st., Somerville, and niece of former Mayor Leslie Knox of Somerville, has been working on a magazine published by a large New England corporation.

Recently she won a contest conducted by a downtown department store, by selecting the ideal business girl wardrobe which would cost under $175.

"The first and grimmest business is saving the money for nice clothes," she said.

This she accomplishes by dividing her salary and putting it safely away from temptation under the headings of entertainment, gifts, insurance, bonds, church, bank, clothes, etc.

"I allow enough to have my hair done once every two weeks, and in order to look my best I try to get plenty of sleep and then concentrate on simple clothes.

"My advice is to wear simple things but have plenty of pins and jewelry to dress them up with. Wear low, comfortable shoes and if you are going out afterwards carry fancy shoes with you to the office.

"It certainly hampers your efficiency and is inappropriate to be self-consciously dressed in ruffles and lace."

Business office musts, she says, are plenty of white blouses, tailored suits, jumpers, dark crepe or wool dresses and, for really cold days, good quality sweaters and skirts.

Here's what Elvia chose for a working girl's basic wardrobe, which you can have by careful budgeting every week:

Gold flannel sports dress, black crepe date dress, grey flannel tailored suit, black chesterfield coat with removable fur lining, white blouse, green jumper outfit, black suede shoes, black felt beret, grey flannel slacks, suede and corday interchangeable handbag, lingerie and pajamas.

Seize South End Man in Holdup

A South End man, on bail on a charge of auto larceny, was captured today in a wild chase through Chinatown after he allegedly slugged a Chinese with a revolver butt and robbed him of a bag containing $840 he was carrying to a bank.

The victim, Shee Gung, 59, proprietor of a Hudson st. grocery store, was treated at Warren ave. station for a lacerated and bruised ear.

The suspect, held on a charge of suspicion of armed robbery, was captured by Patrolman John J. Schofield in the rear of a Kneeland st. building. Both the money bag and his revolver, which he had cast aside in his flight, were recovered.

Ballistics experts examined the gun, from which the serial number had been filed.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 16 (AP)—Finnish troops have reached the heights overlooking Rovaniemi, German stronghold in northwestern Finland, and now hold positions along a broad stretch of the Kemi river, a Helsinki communique announced today.

Gas Coupon Ring Seen Smashed in New Arrests

Federal authorities declared today one of the "biggest counterfeit gasoline coupon rackets" had been smashed as a result of the arrest of two Fitchburg men, one an Army private, and seizure of spurious coupons worth 43,821 gallons of gasoline.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Joseph J. Gottlieb, after conferring with John J. Galgay, chief OPA enforcement officer, said federal agents were now working on leads which they expected would uncover the press used to print the fake coupons and the place where the paper used was obtained.

The Fitchburg men, Pvt. Marino A. Colello, 24, of Warren ave., and Herbert Chrostowski, 32, of Green st., faced arraignment before U. S. Commr. Edward C. Crandell in Worcester, and Gottlieb said heavy bail would be sought.

In addition to the bogus coupons seized by federal agents and Gardner police when the pair were arrested, searchers found many others strewn in sewers in back streets in Gardner. Slight imperfections in the perforations of the coupons led to the discovery they were not genuine.

The two men had been trailed for more than a week before the arrests were made yesterday.

The Army was notified of Colello's arrest and that he would be arraigned with Chrostowski, later today before U. S. Commr. Edward H. Crandell in Worcester. Colello, father of two children, was inducted at Ft. Devens Oct. 9 and was in uniform, home on leave, when the arrests were made. Chrostowski has four children, police said.

Authorities announced that the New England-wide ring was bent on getting rid of the A-11's at once since the A-12's have been banned from circulation and the expiration date of A-11's is not far off. The counterfeits were termed very poor specimens.

At the same time, OPA warned gasoline stations that a drive is on to circulate the counterfeits and urged them to examine all coupons carefully.

LT. PHILIP WILLKIE

Willkie Buried Tomorrow

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Oct. 16 (AP)—Floral tributes to the late Wendell L. Willkie from persons great and obscure flooded this town of 6000 today as preparations were made for funeral services and burial in the little East Hill Cemetery tomorrow.

In the simplest of services there will be no long list of honorary pallbearers and of the eight men designated as pallbearers, seven are tenants on Willkie farms and the eighth, a former tenant.

Announcement of last rites was made by the family after arrival of Lt. (j.g.) Philip Willkie, his only son. The burial was delayed until the young Navy officer could return from sea duty.

Blonde Slavey Held In Gangster Escape

Mrs. Muriel Robertson, 21-year-old Revere blonde, who humbly ran errands for her ex-convict friend, according to police, was held in $5000 bail today in Roxbury court after pleading not guilty to being an accessory after the fact of the $6800 S. S. Pierce Co. holdup Sept. 13. Her case was continued until Oct. 25.

Police described her as the wife of a Revere soldier in Alaska, the mother of one child and a woman who played a servant's role for Robert E. Wallace, former longtermer in State Prison.

Back Bay police hold a warrant for Wallace's arrest as one of the S. S. Pierce Co. bandits, while State Police hold another charging him with assault with intent to murder in the Farina shooting. Similar warrants are out for Michael J. "Spike" Hennessey, allegedly Wallace's companion in both affairs.

The Sunday after the holdup, police declare, the Revere woman received a telephone call from Wallace. They say he ordered her to go to his room in the Back Bay, get some clothes for him and meet him at Massachusetts ave. and Newbury st.

He instructed her, officers said, to be careful in the use of taxicabs and to change them in her trip.

The young Revere mother obediently risked arrest for the ex-convict, according to the police who arrested her. They said she went to his room, obtained the designated clothes and delivered them to him as he had directed.

Wallace airily told her, "I'll see you later, I'm going to Florida," related the police.

By his bidding, authorities added, she went to his room another day and got more of his clothes, taking them to the home of his brother in Revere.

Wallace and Hennessey were named by Farina as his assailants, after police found him stumbling near the Braintree-Weymouth line with three bullets in him. He said they had used his car in the S. S. Pierce robbery and then took him for a ride because he wanted more "defense money" from them.

U. S., British Experts Talk at Hub Parley

William L. Batt, vice-chairman of the War Production Board, and the Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, high commissioner for the United Kingdom, were featured speakers today at the luncheon session of a two-day conference on postwar business problems at the Hotel Statler.

Bringing together more than a score of internationally known authorities on business, finance, commerce and agriculture, the meeting is the 16th annual distribution round-table sponsored by the Boston Chamber of Commerce and local educational institutions.

With P. A. O'Connell presiding as general chairman, the first session was opened by F. Frank Vorenberg, president of the Retail Trade Board.

Speakers at the opening forum discussion were Howard McClure, assistant secretary of commerce; A. O. Buckingham, vice-president of Cluett, Peabody & Co., who spoke on "Branded Merchandise vs. Government Standardization"; Marvin Bower, of McKinsey & Co., who discussed integrated marketing as a means of cutting distribution costs, and Paul H. Nystrom, head of a variety stores association, who reported on coming changes in distribution.

This afternoon's session will feature Ernest L. Olrich, chief of disposal of government surpluses of the Treasury Department, and Mason Britton, assistant administrator of the Surplus War Property Administration.

McDevitt, Norton Rap School Survey

While many educators refused all comment, the Boston school survey directed by Dr. George E. Strayer of New York, which recommended an appointive school committee, today was under condemnation by at least two members of the criticized committee.

Disagreeing with the Strayer recommendation were Committeemen Clement A. Norton and Daniel J. McDevitt. Another dissenting voice was that of Miss Catherine M. McHugh, president of the Boston Elementary Teachers' Club.

The report, only one of its eight chapters thus far released, charged that the school committee had degenerated into "a political proving ground and springboard" for higher office under its present elective set-up. Norton pointed out that Strayer termed the elective system the "only democratic way" in his survey of the St. Louis schools in 1930 and asked how the New York educator could recommend an obvious backward step for Boston.

C. M. McHugh

He said he agreed on the report's recommendations on matters of school administration, however.

McDevitt likewise criticized sections of the report but said he and his fellow members planned to give it fair and careful consideration.

Miss McHugh charged that the Strayer reform system would not take the schools out of politics or politics out of the schools.

"The plan would give the mayor the appointment of 50 per cent of those nominated for the school committee. Isn't that politics?" she asked.

Asserting that she was strongly opposed to transferring the administration of the school system to the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Home and School Ass'n, Boston Central Labor Union, League of Women Voters, Boston College, Boston University and Simmons College, Miss McHugh asked:

"Why is the public school teaching group, in Boston omitted from this list? The members of that group know more about the school system of Boston than any or all other groups in the state, and could have given the Strayer commission some real, constructive ideas.

"For instance, I believe the number of school committee members should be limited, and that they be prohibited from running for other political offices while they are serving on the committee."

Midnight Deadline For Buddies' Gifts

Midnight tonight, the final deadline for mailing Christmas packages to the boys of the armed services overseas, brings to an overwhelmingly successful conclusion the Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas campaign, sponsored by the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser.

It is with great pride that the sponsors announce to its readers that through their heartfelt generosity, the names of more than 27,000 overseas men have been furnished to those who enrolled in the campaign.

This guarantees a happy Christmas to 27,000 lads, many without relatives or friends to remember them, who will be saved from the loneliness of being forgotten on the Christmas Day which, we hope and pray may be the last Christmas of the war.

These papers express their deep gratitude to the readers who made possible the sending of these gifts to the soldiers and sailors, Marines, Coast Guardsmen and merchant mariners who are fighting their battles overseas.

To the distinguished members of the campaign committee, headed by Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly of the Boston postal district, these papers also express gratitude for their most hearty cooperation.

Postmaster Connelly has estimated that half a million Christmas packages have been mailed through the Metropolitan area alone, a total of 1,500,000 pounds, and that at least 1,000,000 Christmas packages, totaling 4,500,000 pounds, have been sent overseas from New England.

He has expressed thanks to the Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas campaign sponsors for aiding the postoffice by emphasizing the regulations, the need of early mailing, and calling to the attention of New England readers the needs of fighting men who might otherwise have been forgotten.

These papers thank most heartily all other members of the committee, including Archbishop-elect Richard J. Cushing, honorary chairman; Bishop Henry Knox Sherill; Gov. Saltonstall and the other New England governors; Mayor Tobin, all city and state departments, high military authorities, veterans, civic and charitable organizations and clergymen of all faiths who have co-operated in making this drive such a tremendous success.

If any members enrolled in the campaign have put off mailing their Christmas parcel until now, we warn them again that tonight at midnight is the absolute deadline for mailing. So don't get shut out now—remember what your Christmas gift will mean to some lonely serviceman who is fighting for victory far away.

MENTALLY ILL VETS VICTIMS OF CRUELTY

Special to the Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—Detailed instances of cruelties practiced upon mentally ill veterans of this and other wars at the U. S. Veterans Facility at Lyons, N. J., were disclosed to the New York Journal-American today.

A former attendent at the hospital, Robert Hegler, testifying under oath before an investigator of the U. S. Veterans Administration in Washington, said he saw patients tied up and beaten, forced under cold showers with a broom as punishment, and almost strangled with bath towels for minor offences.

He testified he saw a nurse throw medicine from a glass into the face a young veteran of this war because he leered at her. Also in his testimony was a statement that he saw a veteran, so weak he could hardly stand, with a black eye inflicted by an attendant who boasted of it.

C. R. Vogtman, investigator for the veterans' administration, before whom Hegler testified, is continuing his investigation at the hospital.

Following are some of the cases of brutality sworn to by Hegler, a conscientious objector, in his testimony before Vogtman:

"On Nov. 22, 1943, about 3 p. m., I saw a patient strapped to a chair which, in turn, was strapped to a post in the ward.

"The patient was loud and abusive in his language, and cursed the attendants," he said. "One attendant told him to shut up. When the patient didn't, the attendant punched him several times in the body. Five other attendants looked on without comment.

"The same night, on the other side of the ward, I saw another attendant hit a young, non-resistive patient in the back, threaten to give him a beating and a cold shower, and hit him on two different occasions while he was in bed."

Maritime Radio Service Needs Men

Speed Loans For Veterans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Veterans' Administration, other federal officials and representatives of the nation's banking interests today began what is expected to be the final week of deliberation on plans for housing loans to homecoming service men.

Under the G. I. Bill of Rights, a veteran, subject to certain conditions, is entitled to a loan to build or purchase a home, the loan being partially or completely guaranteed or insured by the government.

The Veterans Administration expects to have the home loan provision ready next week and the plan for farm homes ready 10 days later. The arrangement for business loans, to enable a veteran to set himself up in business, will follow.

2 Boys Killed Using Grenade as Hammer

Head-On!

A freak accident put two stitches in a fireman's scalp and delayed a South Shore train 20 minutes today.

The train was coming into the No. Scituate station shortly after 7 a. m. when the fireman, William A. Sheehan, 40, of Hibiscus rd., Waltham, stuck his head out of the locomotive cab.

His head struck the canopy of the station and he was sent home after treatment at Cohasset Hospital. The train had to wait for another fireman.

• • • HOW TO LICK YOUR FITTING HEADACHE

(IN ONE EASY LESSON)

Step this way, gentlemen. No fuss, no makeshifts, no murderous chopping-block attack. Step this way—meet Bond's 81 different sizes and models. Ever see such a whopping big line-up? Right you are—it's a cinch to get a smooth looking job, here. Right body size, right sleeve and coat length, right rise and length for your trousers. Now you're off to a swell start. Then a deft touch or two by a Bond expert, and you've a suit that fits as though it were made exclusively for you. Snug collar. Vigorous shoulders. And look—what's happened to that slight bulge around the middle? Your mirror says it's gone! We're doing it every day, for more men than any other clothier in the country. How about you?

F. D. World League Called Peril to U. S.

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Dean of American War Correspondents

The Roosevelt League of Nations, or World Organization of Security, so laboriously erected in an atmosphere of mystifying secrecy by the Big Three (China merely acquiesced), proposes to maintain and guarantee a peace not yet made and the terms of which are not known to the American people.

It creates what, in effect, is a super-world government and executive council in which four or five of the big powers will have permanent seats and can be dominate it.

It calls for the abdication by Congress and the American people of the supreme sovereign decision, and power as to when and when not our sons shall be sent into foreign wars, and the delegating of that power to the super-world council.

It is said that Stalin, with characteristic foresight and caution, balked at surrendering Soviet Russia's sovereign power to make war, when, where and why, to an executive council of the super-world government. A wise decision, indeed.

The draft plan reveals that the Roosevelt world organization has all the defects and weaknesses of the Woodrow Wilson League of Nations plus some the Geneva league did not have.

The new revamped league is to be given power to enforce its edits. The Wilson concept did not have that.

The Roosevelt league had a bad start and is burdened by a great handicap.

At the very beginning it is divided into two great world camps – western capitalistic democracy, and the totalitarian Communism of Soviet Russia of the East, alert, positive, active in many parts of the world.

Militarily the western Allies—America and Britain—are on the offensive (together with our eastern ally, Soviet Russia) against a totalitarian Nazi Germany.

Paradoxically, our political and economic systems and our social and cultural structures are very much on the DEFENSIVE against our own eastern ally, totalitarian Communist Soviet Russia.

Therein lies the weakness, and to us the danger, in President Roosevelt's revamped Woodrow Wilson League of Nations.

Boston's Paper-Tin Pickup Spurs Salvage Drive Week

With city trucks making collections in Wards 1 through 5, Boston's October campaign for waste paper and scrap tin got off to a flying start today.

In 20 other communities in the Metropolitan area, salvage drives also will be held this week.

The Boston campaign is being aided by 6000 schoolboys, organized as papertroopers, who will ring doorbells in their neighborhoods all this week to urge householders to fullfil their patriotic duty of gathering tin and paper and placing it on sidewalks by 10 a. m. on the day of collection in their districts.

Tomorrow, collections will be made in Wards 6 through 10; Wednesday, Wards 11 to 14; Thursday, Wards 15 through 18; Friday, Wards 19 through 22.

Here is a list of communities planning collections this week:

Braintree—Tuesday.
Brockton—Monday and Tuesday.
Brookline—Regular rubbish collection days
Chelsea—Monday.
Everett—Friday.
Hingham—Thursday.
Medford—Monday through Friday.
Newton—Tuesday.
Quincy—Monday, Wards 1 and 2; Tuesday, Wards 3 and 4; Wednesday, Wards 5 and 6.
Revere—Monday, Ward 1; Tuesday, Ward 2, Wednesday, Ward 3, Thursday, Ward 4, Friday, Ward 5.
Scituate—Central depots.
Wakefield—Wednesday.
Weston—Monday
Westwood—Tuesday.
Weymouth—Monday.
Winthrop—Tuesday.

Formosa Thursday night. Twenty Japs were shot down. Nevertheless carirer planes returned to the attack on Formosa and Luzon island in the northern Philippines Friday. They encountered "little air opposition" and wiped out 41 enemy planes.

Friday afternoon 30 more Jap planes were shot down as they attacked the U. S. sea force, Nimitz said, and "it is known many additional enemy aircraft have been shot down. Our plane losses so far have been light. This fight is continuing."

Fifty Allied bombers and fighters raided Canton, Tokyo reported today, virtually completing the aerial encirclement of the invasion-threatened Philippines. Canton raiders come from the China-based 14th U. S. Air Force whose persistent forays have forced the powerful Jap armies in southeast China to move only at night or under camouflage.

Land-based planes operating over the Pacific attacked 26 small Jap vessels. Six were sunk or damaged in the southern Philippines and Makassar strait. Three were attacked at Iwo, 750 miles south of Tokyo. And 17 were targets in a half dozen raids on the Kuriles north of Japan.

The Chinese high command announced heavy fighting was continuing 12 miles west of the Hunan-Kwangsi railway town of Hingan, 25 miles north of Kweilin, one of the main objectives of the current Jap offensive in southeast China.

On the west river front south of Kweilin, where the Japs are thrusting in the direction of the U. S. air base at Liuchow, the situation was declared unchanged.

West African troops have captured two more Jap positions east of previously taken Mowdok, a village in the southeast corner of India near the Burmese border, Allied headquarters announced

War Dept. Bans More Furloughs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The War Department, reporting it now is returning to this country 30,000 men monthly, says it cannot increase the number substantially and continue to press the war vigorously to an early conclusion.

The report, to the House military committee, was prepared as a result of increasing requests for furloughs for men serving abroad.

Selection of individuals to be returned under quotas assigned to overseas commanders, the report explained, is "the sole responsibility of the authorities in the theater." Determination is based on local conditions, with consideration given to the length of service of each individual, his value to his unit and "the morale of the individuals in the unit, including the extent of rebuilding of mind and body required."

Nazi Aachen Diary Tells Ebbing Morale

By WILLIAM SMITH WHITE

AACHEN, Germany, Oct. 15 (delayed) (AP)—In the clothing of a dead German sergeant, American soldiers found a diary today which indicated what the pulverizing attack on Aachen is doing to the morale of some enemy troops.

Here was its final entry, dated Oct. 2, and showing, incidentally, that "Franz" had been too busy to keep it up:

"It is almost midnight; it is only 60 meters to the American lines. For five days the iron language of the front has been drumming in my ears.

"How different it is here from Russia! There the eternal brrrp of the machine gun and the roaring of the steppes of Asia. Here, the uninterrupted and nerve-wracking artillery and mortar fire.

"We are in this position in the Aachen area with continuous uneasiness in our hearts that we might be encircled. Nobody told us anything about the danger but everybody can see for himself that the circle around us is being closed.

"An enemy loud speaker announces clearly: 'German soldiers, surrender! You are encircled. Our planes bomb Aachen. Our artillery shells Aachen. You have no other way out.'

"Is that actually true? Then we hear some recent hit songs until the finale comes with a tremendous barrage from all the guns around Aachen.

"There is nothing else which could be more demoralizing. What would my wife say, or my parents, if they knew about me right now? I wonder whether I'll see them again. Must I end like Loisl in the front at Stalingrad? I'm afraid nobody knows the answer to all these questions, but the Lord might protect me once more as he has so many times before and I might survive to return safely to my loved ones."

AN AMERICAN WAR

GOVERNOR BRICKER reminded his audience in Spokane that the American people are not fighting a DEMOCRATIC PARTY war or a REPUBLICAN PARTY war, but a necessary and righteous and all-out AMERICAN WAR.

"I resent the efforts of the New Deal to try to make political capital out of winning the war," he said.

"Winning the war is the objective of EVERY AMERICAN and has been since Pearl Harbor, and it will remain so until final victory.

"We want to see the war ENDED at the earliest possible moment.

"We are pledged to VICTORY at the earliest possible date, and then we want to BRING HOME at the earliest possible time our brave soldiers that they may enjoy the fruits of their victory."

Those are surely the things ALL AMERICANS want—not as Republicans or as Democrats, but AS Americans.

Get the war OVER.
Get the victory WON.
Get the boys HOME.

WE ARE GRATEFUL

THE Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser today conclude their third and most successful Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas campaign.

Thanks to the generosity of the Bostonians and New Englanders who heard and answered our appeal, more than TWENTY-SEVEN THOUSAND soldiers, sailors, Marines, Coast Guardsmen and Merchant Mariners who have no known relatives will receive presents on the day when their thoughts and memories turn most poignantly to home.

We are deeply grateful to Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly and all the other distinguished men and women who served so effectively on the campaign committee.

We cannot adequately thank all the persons and organizations who prepared gift packages and sent them abroad.

But no words of ours will ever match the smiles of the lads in khaki, green and blue when they receive the remembrances on their Savior's natal day.

Hundreds of persons who have neglected to participate in this effort to cheer lonely and friendless overseas men still have an opportunity to do so. Names and addresses may be obtained and packages mailed until midnight.

RISE IN HANDICAPS

A THIRTEENTH of the country's population will be physically handicapped after the war, when disabled service men are added to the number of civilians already having impairments.

This is the prediction of Ross A. McFarland, assistant Professor of Industial Research at Harvard Business School.

Professor McFarland, a realistic man who believes in facing all facts, even grim ones, says the responsibility for rehabilitating men who have been injured in the nation's defense rests squarely with industrial, labor and community organizations.

It most certainly does. Much of the veterans' legislation that grateful Congresses and Legislatures may pass will be nullified if business and industrial establishments persist in requiring service men to pass excessively rigid physical examinations of the type which barred thousands of civilians from essential employment during the wartime emergency.

WIDOWS: Should there be special rings for widows? Such is the question put to our Horses & Women Department by a young widow. The fact is that at one time there were special rings for widows. The "widow's ring" was of gold inlaid with black enamel. When men learn a young woman is a widow their interest in her increases. In France the women are very conscious of this fact. If they are widows they want the men to know it. So, when a Frenchwoman becomes a widow she removes her wedding ring from her left hand to her right hand. This indicates she is willing to marry again, as her left hand is free for a second wedding ring.

ABSENCE: Am asked by a Navy wife the name of the man who first said: "Absence makes the heart grow fonder." She further inquires: "Do you believe it?" T. H. Bayly, British poet, is credited with this observation, though captious critics claim it was a common saying in ancient Greece. As to believing it, I would say it all depends on the intensity of the love of the persons concerned. I agree with Monsieur La Rochefoucauld: "Absence diminishes little passions and increases great ones, just as the wind blows out a candle and fans a fire."

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1944, by King Features Synd., Inc.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—Governor Dewey made a charge in his Charleston speech which concerns the whole future of the nation, as to whether we shall ever go back to free enterprise with freedom to work where we will and at occupations which we prefer.

Westbrook Pegler

For proof of the Roosevelt government's intent to take over most of our industry and "tell each of us where we could work, at what and for how much," he quoted from a report by Adolf Berle, a veteran brain-truster now in the State Department. Berle disavowed any such plan, insisting that he was voicing a warning, not a desire.

But, would that cut the ground from under Mr. Dewey?

★ ★ ★

BOTH MRS. ROOSEVELT and Hopkins wanted government authority to chain individuals to their jobs, to shift them about and, of course, to fix their wages.

The voters could decide more intelligently if Mrs. Roosevelt and Hopkins would frankly argue for their ideas and state the advantages which they believe would result. The people might decide in their favor.

Of course, all they proposed is unconstitutional and there is no authority to suspend any part of the Constitution even in war. A few years ago, Mr. Roosevelt fired out of his advisory circle a peripheral member who had written a magazine article that displeased him.

But he did not repudiate either his wife's plan or Hopkins' nor has Hopkins been fired. Hopkins still makes policy and we have a right to suspect, therefore, that when he made his radical suggestion, he expressed views which were not offensive to Mr. Roosevelt.

★ ★ ★

HOPKINS' ESCAPE clause was, of course, that he was proposing a war emergency measure. But the fact is plain that once the deed were done we never could recover.

And anyway, a majority of us may never witness the dawn of legal peace, meaning peace by treaty and the resumption of diplomatic relations.

Already there has been a serious proposal that the state of war continue for 20 years so that Germany and Japan may be kept on probation.

This might be desirable in that respect but it would also justify the continuation of war emergency controls.

In 20 years or, for that matter, in four years under the kind of controls proposed by Mrs. Roosevelt and Hopkins, a people reduced to that condition would lose entirely their control over their government. They would get the habit of obedience.

★ ★ ★

ANOTHER IDEA offered by Mrs. Roosevelt, pertinent to Mr. Dewey's charge of totalitarian planning, was contained in her recent discussion of social equality as between white men and Negroes.

As naive indication of the course of her thoughts, Mrs. Roosevelt suggested that Negroes be deported from areas where they are heavily predominant and settled elsewhere.

One Negro journalist compares this to Hitlerism and points out that, by this principle, any minority also could be deported or dispersed so that they could not elect their co-believers to office.

★ ★ ★

BUT LET us consider an outline of a scheme of totalitarian infiltration as presented back in 1929 by a man who at present holds an influential planning position under Harold Ickes in the Department of the Interior.

The author of this plan is H. F. Raushenbush and here, in brief, is what he wrote about the absorption of industry by the government:

"The students coming from the colleges today can be of enormous use to the movement as government officials. One good man with his eyes and ears and wits about him, inside the department, can do more to start the technique of control over industry than a hundred men on the outside.

"While the long time aim is the abolition of the profit system for private use, our present strategy should be to make and take every opportunity to prove that there is something better than the profit system."

Well, is there?

That is a fair question which the President, Mrs. Roosevelt, Hopkins and Raushenbush and many others in the Roosevelt government should be willing to argue openly instead of accusing Dewey of repeating "old lies" when he puts a finger on the issue.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons
Motion Picture Editor, International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 16—I'm afraid it is going to break Shirley Temple's heart, but Peggy Ann Garner gets the starring role in "Junior Miss." Peggy Ann is awfully young, you say? Darryl Zanuck told me, "Peggy Ann will be 13 by the time the picture is made—and that's the right age."

I know Shirley wanted this almost more than any other role, but I happened to be on the 20th lot after the preview of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" and all the New York executives as well as the local boys were doing raves over Peggy Ann as "Francie."

Darryl had his mind made all along to cast her as the "Junior Miss" heroine, but he didn't say a word to his associates until they had seen "Tree." William Perlberg has been assigned the production duties on "Junior Miss" and George Seaton, who is directing Betty Grable in "Diamond Horseshoe," will do the maestro honors at the megaphone.

YOU MAY LOOK for a parting of the ways between Sam Wood and Columbia. In fact, Harry Cohn has already told Sam if he wants to take "The Land Is Bright" and produce and direct it at another studio Columbia will have no objection. My understanding is "Jubal Troop," which has been such a headache to Sam and Columbia, will be made at this studio as scheduled, but not before summer, when Claudette Colbert and Humphrey Bogart are free and the foliage is out sufficiently to permit proper outdoor atmosphere.

NO MATTER what Edna Ferber wants for "Great Son," running serially in Cosmopolitan Magazine, Sol Lesser will meet her figure. Says Sol, "We are negotiating for the rights and I haven't even balked at $100,000 down and 10 per cent of the profits because I want the story so much for Lon McCallister. I want it for his first picture when he gets out of the service."

MY OLD FRIEND, Samuel L. Rothafel, known to millions of fans as "Roxy," is the latest to have his life filmed. Roxy is with the angels now and I believe he really is there, for never was there a kinder, sweeter person than the man who rose to be one of the world's greatest motion picture theater impressarios. Joseph Tushinsky, associate producer with Charles R. Rogers of "The Life of Chauncey Olcott," has bought the screen rights to the life of the man who in the roaring '20's introduced stage shows in motion picture houses.

A LINE OR TWO: The 75 Marines visiting the 20th lot had a picnic when Bill Eythe walked into the commissary dressed in white as a dashing Hussar (he's playing opposite Tallulah Bankhead in "Czarina"). SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Surprise! Kay Williams and Van Johnson a happy two-some at Ciro's; Constance Moore's inconsolable and I don't blame her. Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—The Building stands on the northwest corner of 54th st. and Sixth ave.—the Ziegfeld Theater. As Broadway age goes, it's very young; as Broadway legend goes, it's historic; as Broadway anatomy goes, it's as important as a kneecap

Beatrice Lillie

The Building gave our village glamour and pathos, excitement and tears.

It was here we saw beauties more dazzling than the vaunted ones of the Mauve Decade—Gladys Glad, Virginia Bruce, Blanche Satchel and Claire Dodd.

* * *

WHEN Ziegfeld died, this legendary building took a sabbatical—a not too long vacation. Motion pictures were shown here timidly for the neighborhood double-bill trade. We all knew it couldn't last, for too many sacred ghosts of show business stood in the wings.

And now one Billy Rose, a sprout of Barnum, is dusting and scrubbing and hanging curtains, and this legend of Broadway will soon be klieg-lighted into show business warmth again.

Bert Lahr has returned home from California and Bea Lillie is heading back from England to be on hand and on stage.

THE REAL 18-karat, dyed-in-the-wolf stage door Johnny went out with the old Ziegfeld, and I keep wondering hopefully if the new will bring him back.

Broadwayites whose hair is receding remember the night when about 20 huge black limousines blocked the street in funeral procession style, for Giant Guy Loomis, king of the stage door Johns, was taking the gang out to a night club opening. The first car parked in the line contained no passengers—just orchids for the girls.

* * *

AS FOR front-page and feature-story fodder, the Building was unbeatable.

The Building held chorus girls who became undertakers and showgirls who went to medical school. Girls who sued Big Names for breach of promise, girls with innocent faces who were sued for breaking up happy homes, and girls who just sued!

Washington Scene

By George Dixon

Distributed by King Features Synd., Inc. Reproduction prohibited

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—Good morning, children, have you had your irony today? You haven't? Well, open your horrid little kissers and old Dr. Dixon will shoot you a trapful.

Gene Tunney

This is probably the darndest dose of irony you've ever taken. Hold onto your chairs, kiddies here it comes!

Only a sheer act of Providence saved those hoodlums of the AFL Teamsters Union from being strewn all over the Statler in varying states of dismantlement.

* * *

DO YOU KNOW who those two naval officers were waiting for when they were attacked and beaten up?

Commander Gene Tunney!

The former heavyweight champion of the world, who knocked off the great Jack Dempsey, was on his way to the hotel while the attack was in progress. He was 15 minutes late for his appointment!

* * *

THIS FASCINATING angle to the "Battle of the Statler" probably would never have been revealed but for a fortuitous circumstance. Neither Lt. Randolph Dickins, Jr., nor Lt. Com. James H. Suddeth, the attack victims, mentioned it in their accounts of the outrage. And Gene Tunney chose to keep it pretty much to himself.

It came to light this way:

Com. Tunney was in New York and dropped in on Rear Admiral William Robert Munroe, commandant of the Third Naval District. The conversation got around to the Statler business.

"You know, Gene," observed Admiral Munroe, "it's too bad you weren't there!"

"Yes, it was," agreed Com. Tunney, momentarily taken off guard. "But I'd have been there in time except that I was delayed at the office!"

Admiral Munroe's mouth opened.

"What's that?" he demanded. "I hadn't intended to say anything about this," said Gene, "But I only missed being in that battle by 15 minutes. I had an engagement in the hotel with Dickins and Suddeth. They were waiting for me when they were attacked!"

* * *

LEAVE US NOW, as the late Joe Jacobs used to say, do a bit of speculating as to what might have happened if Gene hadn't pulled a Jimmy Walker and been tardy.

The Champ, who doesn't look anything but a rather large naval officer in his uniform, is chatting with Dickins and Suddeth when Dan Tobin's half-plastered boys wallow out of the meeting where they have just been inspired by F. D. R.

The Tobin toughs swagger up to Tunney and demand to know if he intends to vote for his commander-in-chief.

Now Com. Tunney, as befits a man wearing the uniform of Uncle Sam, avoids political arguments. But it is little secret that he is no admirer of the New Deal. Also, he is a great friend of Gov. Dewey.

But Gene, always the gentleman, tries to turn the blusterers away with a soft answer. Like all bullies, they take this as a sign of fear. So they close in on him.

* * *

ONE TAKES a roundhouse sock. Strangely, it fails to land. The next instant the bum is lying 10 feet away, staring with sightless eyes at the ceiling.

A second lad tries to sneak a punch and something explodes under his chin; when he wakes up he will swear he was hit in the neck with a wagon-tongue.

By this time, a third, or fourth lad will have landed a low blow. He will find himself turned around and measured. For weeks thereafter he will go around thinking he has four jaws.

There is also bound to be one who will discover for the first time where the solar plexis really is located. He will spend the rest of his life wishing he didn't own one.

And there will probably be still another who can leave the Statler and try to sell his ears for cauliflowers!

* * *

PLEASE, Gene, why don't you try to be on time for your appointments?

SPEAKING OF EARS, Mr. J. J. Brennan, of Pennsylvania ave. SE, this city, calls my attention to the following from a magazine:

"For years Henry Morgenthau has had Eleanor Roosevelt's ear."

All I got to say is, it's high time he gave it back!

* * *

A DELEGATION from the Polish-American Congress called at the White House the other day to plead with President Roosevelt for the independence of Poland.

At the conclusion of the conference, F. D. R. consented to pose with the delegation. They took up positions before a map of Europe, with the President directing a pointer at Poland.

The picture was never published, however. When the negative was developed, it was discovered F. D. R. was pointing at Germany!

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: (On "Harriet" alias Helen Hayes): Harriet Beecher Stowe, so gleamingly re-animated by Helen Hayes at the Colonial, was still living when persons who today are 50 years old might have seen her in Hartford . . . Mrs. Stowe's novel "Uncle Tom's Cabin" had the most phenomenal sale in publishing history . . . The first printing was sold out on the publication date, May 20, 1852 (the publisher being John P. Jewett of Boston) . . . The sale is estimated to have reached 10 millions of copies in 37 languages . . . It never became a precious item with collectors of first editions because the publisher was so rushed he forgot in his second printing to indicate that it followed the first.

* * *

BELOW THE MASON-DIXON LINE the book was once bootlegged and for years a copy cost as much as good Scotch during Prohibition (—or now) . . . Yet "Harriet," really a play about the book, broke the house record of the National Theater in Washington, D. C. (Or was it Helen Hayes?) . . . Harriet Beecher Stowe was one of 11 children of Dr. Lyman Beecher, almost all of whom gained fame or notoriety because of their crusading activities . . . She, herself, had seven children and made their clothes.

* * *

EXCLUSIVE: The Hollywood star whose diary transformed the intellectual George S. (Playwright) Kaufman almost overnight into a romantic gee will be seen for the first time on any stage in Clare Kummer's new play "Many Happy Returns" . . . She is (for those with failing memories) —Mary Astor . . . As Boston will see the play first (on Dec. 4), it is interesting to note that "Many Happy Returns" will be the first production of Mike Todd's former general manager, Harry Bloomfield . . . A few years ago, Mr. Bloomfield ran a ticket agency near the Boston Garden, as a beneficiary of the favor of "Uncle" Mike Jacobs.

* * *

THE VETERANS at the West Roxbury Hospital report through a fellow-patient Charlie Moore, that the hospital's only piano is so badly out of tune that the patients are "humiliated" when visiting entertainers try to extract harmony from the jangling strings . . . The boys wonder whether something can be done about it . . . (It is their only complaint).

* * *

THE MUTUAL PROFESSIONAL admiration of Alfred Hitchock, the heavyweight director of Hollywood and ex-of London, and his lovely daughter Patricia (Pat) Hitchock, of "Violet," was a lovely thing for members of the press to see . . . The famous father and his talented daughter are so fond of one another that Papa Hitchock flew all the way from Hollywood for Patricia's Boston opening on Patricia's plea that she would give a better opening performance were he present . . . Incidentally, "Patricia Hitchock" will revert to "Pat Hitchock" for billing purposes when "Violet" goes to the Belasco Theater in New York after its Boston run . . . Not that Patricia doesn't prefer "Patricia" to "Pat," for she does . . . It is simply good sense . . . At the theater next door to the Belasco (the Hudson), George Abbot's production "Snafu" will be playing, and the bright young star of that play is also a "Patricia"—Patricia Kirkland, daughter of another (onetime) Hollywood great, Nancy Carroll . . . Patricia K.'s papa is Jack Kirkland, who adapted "Tobacco Road."

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 16—Lana Turner is having almost as many pictures prepared for her at Metro as Clark Gable.

Gloria de Haven

The latest is "Notoriety," story of a hatcheck girl who becomes a Broadway stage star through a smart publicity campaign . . . Charles Boyer has bought Stephen Zweig's novel, "Burning Secret," for his next independent production, and he would like to get Irene Dunne, who is in Columbia's "Together Again" with him, for his leading lady . . . Gloria de Haven and Jack Sassoon are vooming . . . Gilbert Roland's next picture will be "Spanish Main," the RKO cloak and sworder . . . Edward Small is planning a big-time costume picture about Nathan Hale.

* * *

LILLIAN HELLMAN, who got into town a few days ago, leaves this week. While here she conferred with Hal Wallis on the scenerio for "The Searching Wind." She'll work on the screenplay while en route to Russia . . . Dorothy Lamour has received an offer from a Mexican film company to go there and play the lead in a swing version of "Carmen," but Paramount won't let her.

* * *

KATHRYN GRAYSON will sing Mimi when Metro films Puccini's opera "Le Boheme," with James Melton as Rudolph . . . Marie Montez, who has been wearing scanties in the movies, will be muffled in fur robes when she plays the heroine of "The Storm" for Universal . . . Ted Saucier and Edith Martin have written a novel, "Haymarket," which is being considered by several studios for pictures . . . The Pan Pacific theater is now featuring a film called "Jimmy Steps Out," with Jimmy Stewart and Paulette Goddard. The picture is a reissue of their "Pot of Gold."

All-Naval Ceremony

THE NEWLYWED LT. (jg) and Mrs. Edwin Hansen, USNR, and his bride, Sarah Campbell, who has the same rank in the WAVES, are honeymooning at the Chateau Frontenac and expect to return shortly to their duties in Washington where their romance began.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm David Campbell of Milton who made all the wedding arrangements since their daughter was unable to leave her wartime duties till the day before the ceremony. The wedding took place Friday afternoon in the First Parish Church, Milton, with a reception in the Parish House.

Sarah's bridesmaids included her sister, Mrs. John Campbell, also an officer in the WAVES, who did not change her surname when she married Lt. Campbell of the Marines last February. The other attendants were Janet Campbell and Betty Edwards.

SALLY WIGGLESWORTH — heads Junior League ushers for United War Fund dinner.

Lt. Hansen is the son of Mrs. Clifton McCall of Park ave., New York and Maj. Curt Hansen, USA, of Washington.

DOUGLAS LEWIS MILLS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Stone Mills of Cambridge, and Frances Janet McLeod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McLeod of Bar Harbor, were married at the Maine resort Saturday afternoon. The ceremony, performed by Rev. J. Homer Nelson at the Congregational Church, was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride graduated from Westbrook Junior College at Portland, Me., and made her debut in Bar Harbor in the summer of 1938. Mr. Mills attended Monroe School and Leland Powers.

AFTER ALL IS SAID AND DONE . . . most women live to be lovely and happy. They pursue it in devious ways. Generally speaking . . . when a woman is lovely to look at . . . she is a lovely, happy person at heart. She is at peace with herself . . . and with the world.

If you asked me to define loveliness, I'd say: "Loveliness is you at your best." It is no thing of cold rule and rigid standard. It is personal . . . individual. It's you with a figure that looks the way nature intended . . . functioning at its maximum efficiency . . . a face that is smooth and soft and glowing with health and the indefinable charm that comes from a satisfying inner knowledge that you're truly a lovely person . . . it's hair highlighted and shining . . . well-cared for hands . . . an intimate understanding of make-up that subtly touches you with glamour.

It's all the things I've been telling you about for months . . . top-to-toe beauty that is not only woman's proudest possession . . . it's her duty. And, when suddenly one day you find you've become possessed of all of these . . . you discover you've also achieved a different outlook on life . . . a radiance that comes from within . . . a certain, compelling fascination that enables you to play your part . . . to serve . . . to live a rich, full life.

All of which is by way of introduction to an intensive, six-week beauty correspondence course . . . originally instituted for debutantes in a New York salon . . . to help them improve their face, figure, fascination and fitness . . . and which this week is offered Greater Boston women by the department store sponsoring the famous beauty preparations of this name firm.

You'll hear the story of Peggy Frank's glamorous transformation from a 206-pound buxomite to a 115-pound charming irresistible . . . from Peggy herself. The success course is one for you to pursue in the privacy of your home . . . under the ample and full instructions given you. In addition to the beauty-building bill of fare . . . enrollment in the course also means the acquisition of a treasure chest . . . generously equipped with co-ordinated beauty and make-up preparations and accessories for your daily beauty rituals. A member of the faculty of the cosmetic school will also be on hand . . . for personal consultation.

To learn more about this reformation course and a complete beauty plan for you, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Are You Tactful?

If you weren't born tactful, you can train yourself to be tactful. Stop . . . look . . . listen . . . think before you speak. Learn to be aware of the feelings, reactions, sensibilities of other people. Tact is a priceless grace, a priceless asset for every contact you have in your life.

— MRS. BEECKMAN.

SCREEN BEAUTIES have no monopoly on loveliness. They work hard to achieve and retain it. If you think Nature has been unkind to you . . . challenge her design . . . and make yourself over . . . to look as lovely as Warner Star Janis Paige . . . through a course for home pursuit sponsored by a famous cosmetic house under the auspices of a local store.

'One-Dish-Meal' Great For Lusty Fall Appetites

AUTUMN IS A BUSY TIME for homemakers, what with fall housecleaning, "last call" canning, and getting the children back into the swing of school. Crisp, cool days whip up lusty appetites, too.

A so-called "one-dish-meal" meets the demand of fall appetites and extra-busy homemakers at the same time. It is an excellent idea to serve this type of meal at least once a week.

ONE-DISH PORK CHOP MEAL

6 loin end pork chops
1 tbsp. fat — ½ tsp. pepper
2 tsp. salt
4 cups cooked broad noodles
1 can tomato soup
½ cup water
2 tbsp. grated onion

Brown chops to a golden brown in hot fat. Season with half the salt and pepper. Place noodles in a casserole. Dilute tomato soup with water and pour over noodles. Add remaining seasoning and place pork chops on top of noodles. Cover. Cook in moderate oven 1½ hours.

BEEF BRISKET WITH VEGETABLES

2½ lbs. beef brisket
Water
1 onion
1 medium head cabbage
6 sweet potatoes
Salt and pepper

Cover meat with water. Add seasonings and onion. Cover and simmer slowly until tender, allowing approximately 1 hour per pound. A half hour before meat is done, add pared sweet potatoes. Fifteen minutes later add quartered cabbage. When done, remove meat and vegetables to chop plate. Make gravy from 2 cups of the liquid thickened with flour-and-water paste. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CASSEROLE OF MEAT AND VEGETABLES

2 tbsp. butter or bacon fat
1 sliced onion, or 1 clove garlic, peeled
½ cup cooked diced carrots or other cooked vegetable
½ cup diced celery
1½ cups cooked diced meat
1 cup cooked rice
1 cup gravy
1 cup canned tomatoes
2 tbsp. chopped parsley

Melt butter or bacon fat in frying pan, add onion or garlic, and saute about 5 minutes. Remove clove of garlic, if used. Add remaining ingredients, mix well, and pour in greased 1½-quart casserole. Season to taste with salt and pepper if necessary. Bake in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) about 15 minutes, until mixture bubbles. Makes 6 servings. (Cloves, bay leaf and other herbs may be cooked with the tomatoes 5 to 10 minutes, in which case they should be strained before adding to meat mixture.)

LAMB CHOP CASSEROLE

12 small lamb chops
6 small tomatoes, peeled
6 small apples, peeled and cored
6 onions, peeled
18 raw potato balls
Boiling water

Pan-broil lamb chops until lightly browned; place 2 cups, 1 tomato, 1 apple, 1 onion and 2 potato balls in each of 6 heated individual casseroles. Add about 3 tablespoons water to each casserole, cover and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 45 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Sunday The news from the Pacific is so startling these days that one holds one's breath. It was to be expected that once German territory was reached the advance in Europe would be slowed up. But there is so much to be covered in the Pacific, one never knows where the news will came from, and lately it has been so much good news.

The distance to and from the areas where we are now operating is so great that I think few people in this country realize what it means to supply our ships and armed forces.

This question of geographical distance is one which more and more in the next few months we will have to study and understand, because the better we do in the Pacific the further away we get, and the greater is our supply task.

This will mean that the demands made on people at home will be just as great, or greater, in the months to come, and unless they realize the distances they will wonder why this is the case.

WHEN I WAS AT Mitchel Field the other day, I saw how much pleasure their set-up for telephone calls gave to the wounded boys just returned from overseas. Portable telephones were carried to the boys' bedside by girls assigned to this job.

The girls put in the calls, and held the telephone if the boy was not strong enough. The boys get these telephone calls free, because the commanding officer has raised a fund to pay for them.

Russian Tunic Gets O. K.

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THIS fall the folks who design our fashions have gotten down to scanning any so-called "United Nations" style inspirations with a cold and calculating eye.

Anything they have taken from such sources must be good on its own, and something our own girls can wear on a strictly American way.

One of the items to get an okay on these points is the Russian tunic, or blouse, whichever you want to call it. There are a lot of them in the collections and they fall in nicely with the general fashion for tunics, as well as being personally becoming to lots of ladies.

Charles Cooper, that very gifted young designer, makes a Russian tunic dress that is sketched here. He makes the tunic of parchment-colored jersey having a black jersey bow at the waistline and jet embroidered buttons, as well as jet embroidery on the belt. The skirt is black jersey, and the whole effect is very young and smart.

Boy Strangled In Rope Trick

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (INS)—Edward England, 12, was found strangled to death in his bed in what his father told police "must have been an experiment with a rope."

The father went to the youngster's room to call him to breakfast and found him in bed with a rope tied around his neck and to each ankle so that he was apparently strangled when he straightened his legs.

Edward had always been interested in experiments, the father said.

Q I am seeking information regarding my husband who has been recently discharged, under honorable conditions, from the service because of a physical disability. He applied for reinstatement to his old job, but was informed by his ex-employer that he could not be re-hired on account of his condition.

I understand that veterans are supposed to be taken back into the jobs they held before entering service. What is the ruling on such a case and what procedure should be taken?

MRS. L. T., East Boston.

A. Private employers are obligated under law to reinstate all honorably discharged veterans capable of performing the duties of their job, providing they apply within 90 days following discharge. The law, however, places no compulsion on employers to re-employ veterans in unsuited for their old jobs.

What your husband's disabilities are I don't know, but suggest that he immediately contact the Re-employment Director attached to his local draft board and state case. Investigation by him will decide what legal procedure, if any, should be taken.

Q Following six months in the service (Army Air Corps) I was given a medical discharge after developing a nervous stomach which later resulted in ulcers.

Before going into the service I was a member of the high school football and baseball teams and in perfect condition. Since discharge I have not been able to do much work because of my condition. I have been refused compensation. Don't you think I am entitled to it? L. R. C., Hull.

A—I most certainly would like to answer your question, but my qualifications regarding the medical side of the query are valueless. However, on the surface the facts you state would make it seem this condition was aggravated while in the service. The Veterans Administration medical and rating board are the deciding factors. Only can advise you to seek a review of claim through Veterans Bureau.

Q—My husband is overseas. I believe somewhere near Paris. I am about to give birth to a child and would like to notify him that he has become a daddy as soon after the blessed event as possible. Does the Army inform him or can I send him a telegram?

S. A. T., Quincy.

A You may forward him a cable announcing the new arrival. Paris is about as good a town as any right now to celebrate such an event, if he gets a pass. Can't blame him, can you? The only thing you want to inform the Army about is application to increase Family Allotment from $50 to $90. After birth contact Personal Affairs Officer, First Service Command, 808 Commonwealth ave., Boston 15, Mass. They will send you necessary data.

Questions submitted to Veterans' Friend Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, Mass., will be answered in this daily column.

NEW ENGLAND AND THE AGE OF FLIGHT

In the peacetime to come you will live in an era of vastly expanded air traffic —the Age of Flight. The airplane will increase New England's leadership as an industrial, distribution and recreational center, and will establish this area as a major Trans-Atlantic air gateway.

When equipment is available, United Air Lines—the nation's oldest transcontinental airline—will bring the famous Main Line Airway directly to Boston and Hartford. Coast-to-coast service will be offered from New England straight through to Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha, Denver and major Pacific Coast cities. Thus will the strategic Main Line Airway, direct link in 'round-the-world air travel, serve the New England gateway . . . for this No. 1 long-distance route of the nation is the airway that goes where business is!

Wednesday Final Day to Register

Officials of the Boston Election Commission today warned that 10 o'clock on Wednesday evening is the deadline for registration of citizens who desire to vote in national and state elections on Nov. 7.

Already approximately 385,000 persons are listed as Boston voters and indications are that the final number will exceed the all-time high registration of 390,000 set in 1940.

Several groups are particularly active in the registration drive, among them Mayor Tobin's personal organization, the Boston Democratic City Committee and the CIO Political Action Committee.

Abp. Spellman Home, Sees No Early Peace in Europe

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Archbishop Spellman, vicar general of the armed forces, arrived at LaGuardia Field today in an Army plane, ending a 19,000-mile trip among American GI's in battle areas overseas.

Asked if he believed there would be peace in Europe by Christmas, Archbishop Spellman said:

"Gen. Eisenhower didn't say so and I certainly would not go beyond anything he said."

The archbishop, who began his trip July 20, visited North Africa, Italy, northern and southern France, England, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

"My first purpose," he said, "was in meeting and talking with the chaplains. I found all denominations doing excellent work, and their work is being appreciated. The chaplains are living the same lives as the soldiers, and I am sure the soldiers are a great inspiration to them as well as they are an inspiration to the soldiers.

"I don't think that we at home have an adequate idea of everything our boys are, everything they do and everything they represent.

"If all Americans can and will support them in what they are doing and what they represent, it will be a great factor toward winning the war and, what is more important, toward winning the peace."

Lamour Musical For Para-Fenway

Dorothy Lamour, whose sarong-twirling puts her at the head of the class, is due to take over the Paramount and Fenway screens on Thursday when Paramount's Technicolor musical, "Rainbow Island," moves into the twin M. and P. houses for a week's run.

Teamed with the luscious Lamour are Eddie Bracken, Gil Lamb and Barry Sullivan, all of whom cavort merrily in an atmosphere lush with gorgeous girls in sarongs, torrid romance, robust comedy and swingy music.

On the same bill, Republic's musical, "Atlantic City," boasts a cast headed by Constance Moore, Jerry Colonna, Belle Baker, Paul Whiteman and Louis Armstrong and their orchestras.

Tributary Cast in 'Julius Caesar'

One of the heaviest advance sales in the Boston Tributary Theater's history is indicated for "Julius Caesar," to be presented Nov. 1, 2, 3 and 4 in New England Mutual Hall. The exciting Shakespeare classic is the theater's second production in the season's subscription series. Tickets are now on sale at the New England Mutual Hall box office.

Tonight

SHUBERT -- "REBECCA," Daphne DuMaurier's dramatization of her own best-selling novel, will initiate the Theater Guild's subscription series of the season. Bramwell Fletcher, Florence Reed and Diana Barrymore head cast. Fortnight's engagement for the Victor Payne-Jennings production.

WILBUR — "VIOLET," Whitfield Cook's MGM-financed comedy with John Vitez, Russel Gaige, John Cherry and Fay Baker, Harvey Stephens, Helen Claire and 15-year-old Patricia Hitchcock, will be given its world premiere here. Staged by the author. Settings by Howard Bay. One week only.

Tomorrow Night

COPLEY — "HARVEY," Brock Pemberton's production of the new Mary Chase play starring Frank Fay and featuring Josephine Hull, Fred Irving Lewis, Dora Clement, Tom Seidel and others, opens an 11-day run. Title changed from "The Pooka."

Wednesday Night

PLYMOUTH—"NO WAY OUT," Owen Davis' new drama in which Robert Keith, Irene Hervey, Viola Frayne, Viola Roache and Jean Casto have leading parts, will be brought here for a 10-day engagement by the Messrs. Shubert. Mr. Davis says his play is basically a criticism of the unlawful power medical "ethics" gives to physicians.

Continuing

COLONIAL — "HARRIET," the Helen Hayes-starring Broadway success of two seasons, tonight begins the second week of its three-week run under the aegis of Gilbert Miller. The Harriet of the title is, of course, the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Harriet Beecher Stowe, of the fabulous Beechers.

October 23

WILBUR—"SLEEP, MY PRETTY ONE," starring Pauline Lord in the new play by Charlcie and Oliver H. P. Garrett, will be presented by Richard Krakeur for a week's engagement, Roy Hargrave directing; setting by Raymond Sovey.

October 29

OPERA HOUSE—"ALL" with Mobley Lushanya, Margery Maude, Frieda Fletcher, Sydney Rayner Roslyn Thomas, Harold Kravitt and others, will open a 10-performance, eight-day engagement here of Fortune Gallo's San Carlo Opera Company.

October 30

COLONIAL—"TOMORROW THE WORLD," the comedy-drama of production by Theron Bamberg and awarded the best play of '44 prize by the Theater Club of New York, in its return engagement brings a cast headed by Stephen Chase and Barbara Robins. The James Gow-Arnaud d'Usseau play premiered here a year ago last March.

WILBUR—"IN BED WE CRY," Ilka Chase's dramatization of her own novel, brings Miss Chase and Paul McGrath here in the leading roles.

November 6

PLYMOUTH—"THE LATE GEORGE APLEY," dramatization of John P. Marquand's Boston story by the author and George S. Kaufman, stars Leo G. Carroll. The now completed cast includes Jane Geecher, Percy Waram, Margaret Dale, Davie McKay, Priestley Morrison and others.

November 9

SHUBERT—"LAFFING ROOM ONLY!" latest Olsen and Johnson musical extravaganza, co-stars the comedian-producers and features Frank Libuse, Betty Garrett, Willie West and McGinty, Mata and Hari, and others.

November 13

COLONIAL—"SING OUT, SWEET LAND," the Theater Guild's new musical starring Alfred "Oklahoma" Drake.

WILBUR—"A BELL FOR ADANO," Paul Osborn's dramatization of John Hersey's best-seller starring Fredric March and featuring Margo. Produced by Leland Hayward; directed by H. C. Potter.

Important! Your waste kitchen fats can load our guns. Take every drop to your meat dealer.

Ruth Draper to Give Two Programs Here

Ruth Draper will present "Opening a Bazaar," "Glasses," "Three Women" and "In a Church in Italy" on Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in Jordan Hall. On Sunday, at 3:30 p. m. her program will include "The Italian Lesson," "Doctors and Diets," "A Debutante at a Dance," "Viva la France" and other sketches.

PLAYS EIGHT ROLES

Burl Ives will have eight different roles in the Theater Guild's musical, "Sing Out Sweet Land," starting rehearsals this week.

COLONIAL — ONLY 2 WEEKS MORE

Notre Dame-Army Top Game of Year

By JACK CONWAY

NOTRE DAME against the Army at the Yankee Stadium, New York on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, is the game that is likely to decide the national college football championship.

As the Irish crushed Dartmouth before 40,000 persons at Fenway Park, the Cadets were doing an equally decisive job on Pitt.

Ed McKeever lived up to the highest traditions of Notre Dame when he released a powerful, well trained eleven against Dartmouth. The team possessed terrific drive from the second Bob Kelly, our nomination as an All-America back, made his sensational 51-yard run in the first half until the late stages of the game when second and third string players were still carrying the pigskin forward for the team from South Bend.

Bob Kelly

Frank Dancewicz, former Lynn Classical player who is quarterback at Notre Dame, and Kelly were the power in the early stages of the game. They were ably supported by a fine Notre Dame team.

Notre Dame placed the youngest team in its history on the field. It was not the equal of the Notre Dame team that beat Michigan last fall with Angelo Bertelli tossing dazzling passes to big John Yonaker, but with the possible exception of the Army it is the best college football eleven in the country today.

I know Frank Leahy will be proud of his lads when he gets the details of the game at his Navy outpost in the South Pacific. He will be happy to know that Ed McKeever has come through for the Irish, and that the Notre Dame team that opposes the Army will be tops.

★ ★ ★

Army Eager for Win

AT WEST POINT they would like to conquer the Navy. But the Army is also pointing for the Notre Dame game and will fire all of its guns in the clash in New York.

The only weakness Notre Dame showed against Dartmouth, and it is one that can be corrected, is its defense against passes. When Dartmouth was able to get its passes loose, they were very successful.

Notre Dame plays Wisconsin at Notre Dame on Saturday, and then takes on Illinois at Champaign and the Navy at Baltimore. The Army game comes the following Saturday, Nov. 11. Northwestern, Georgia Tech and Great Lakes will complete the Notre Dame schedule.

Great Lakes was the only team that defeated Notre Dame last Fall. Great Lakes has not as much power this year as under the new working arrangement between the service stations and colleges professional players are banned from the contests.

This is only fair as many of the players on teams like Notre Dame are only 17 and 18 years of age. Douglas Waybright, Notre Dame back from Saugus who played so well against Dartmouth, is only 17 years old. His dad is a pressman on the Hearst Boston papers and has reason to be proud of his son.

Joe Gasparella, another Irish star, is also 17 years of age. Even Bob Kelly is only 19 years old.

George Sullivan, tackle, from Walpole is 18 years old.

★ ★ ★

Strength of Subs

NOTRE DAME, as in the past, has an abundance of material for three teams. Once beyond his first string players Ed McKeever says he lacks many experienced players. This is due to the youth of the representatives of Notre Dame.

The Irish are well coached and have tremendous spirit. On the form they showed against Dartmouth, they have an excellent chance to finish the season without suffering a defeat.

Eagles Tackle New York U. Here

The Boston College Eagles will move over to Fenway Park to play their third game of the season against New York University under the lights on next Friday night.

The game will be the second night tilt in as many weeks for the B. C. players. They mauled City College of New York 33-0 at Braves Field last week. The N. Y. U. eleven dropped a game to a powerful Temple team last Saturday.

Several changes will have to be made in the starting lineup for the Heightsmen since injuries have sidelined a few first stringers.

WILL MISS CRONIN

The most serious injury was the fractured ankle sustained on the third play of the second half by Ed Cronin, starting quarterback, who it is feared, will be on the sidelines for perhaps the entire season. Charlie Englert who assumed the signal-caller's job after Cronin's mishap, will take over the first string berth. Englert is a capable ball-handler and kicker and with a week of practice before the game his passing should develop.

Pete Boleyko, co-captain and starting guard, is still suffering from an injury from the Harvard tilt, but another week will make a difference. Bill "Shanty" Hogan, substitute center, watched the C. C. N. Y. game from the bench as he had a sprained ankle but he will be back Friday to back up the B. C. line with the same ferocious tackles that drew the acclaim of the crowd at the Stadium two weeks ago.

Tickets for Friday's game may be obtained at the Heights Athletic Office and a good turnout is anticipated for the coming tilt.

Yanks Talk of Pro Game As Herb Kopf Amazes

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Sunday, Oct. 15, 1944 will be a memorable date in Boston professional football annals. For that is the day on which Herb Kopf's infant Yanks suddenly flowered into manhood. Though they lost the decision (21-14) to the Washington Redskins, they convinced 16,768 paying patrons at Fenway Park that they would hold their own in N. L. competition.

"It will take Kopf three years to develop a winner in this league," said visiting coaches after the Yanks' early games. It looked that way then — but not now. Kopf evidently has done three years' work in three months, because his Yanks missed a tie with the Redskins by only six yards. And all this without a practice gridiron.

Augie Lio missed two field goals against the Redskins. The high wind may have steered one off its course, but the main reason Lio missed is because he didn't have a chance to kick in practice. Fenway Park's gridiron is still barred to the team, so they practice behind stands or on a Brookline playground which has neither yard stripes nor goal posts. Further, many of the players get their assignments by mail. Thron Riggs, for example, didn't appear for practice all last week. Despite all this the Yanks keep improving. It's incredible.

Consider this: The Eagles whip the Yanks 26-7. The Redskins tie the Eagles 31-31. The Yanks turn around and hold the Redskins, a powerhouse, to 21 points. That's improvement.

Filchok completes 25 of 33 passes against the Eagles who have lightning fast pass defenders. Filchok completed only 10 of 18 against the Yanks. And the Eagles have 22 league veterans, only six newcomers, the Yanks have only five league veterans and 23 newcomers. That's coaching.

YANKS WERE "LOOSE"

The Yanks had a swagger about them lacking in previous games. They were "loose" as the saying goes. And they fought like demons. Twice they came from behind to tie the score and with only three minutes left to play they tied together three first downs to reach the Redskins' six, only to lose the ball—and the game—on a fumble. It was a terrible let-down to the shrieking fans who cheered the Yanks at every opportunity. But football of that type will fill the park every day in the week. Yes, the Yanks definitely turned the corner on Sunday, Oct. 15, 1944.

A 17-yard punt by Steinmetz set up the first Redskins score, a score that was accelerated by Field Judge Tryon's strange ruling on a Filchok-Lapka pass. Lio tackled Lapka so viciously the latter fumbled, Lio picked up the ball and raced down the field for an apparent T. D. Said Tryon "Lio was in the grasp of an opponent." A moment before, five Yanks had Filchok in their grasp, let him fade away to get the pass off to Lapka . . . "If we had Baugh to do the punting, the score wouldn't have been so close," said Redskins' coach Dudley De Groot . . . Gudmundson looked good in the Yanks' qb slot and punted well against the wind. His passing, too, showed great improvement . . . A fake quick kick on which Cafego slipped the ball to Davis, resulted in a 46-yard run to the Redskins 24 and eventually to the Yanks' first T. D. Second T. D. came after Franco recovered a Redskins' fumble on their 29. A fourth down pass, Gudmundson to Crowley, good for 30 yards, did the trick. Crowley made a pretty catch on the 3, stepped into the end zone . . . Walter Dubzinski is due to take his Army physical tomorrow . . . Martin, new Yanks' back, let Seno get beyond him to complete a pass in the second period. Result: Redskins marched 34 yards to touchdown . . . "Our timing was better," said Kopf in retrospect. Everything was better, and the Yanks will get a royal welcome home when they play the Brooklyn Tigers here on Nov. 18.

Walsh Speaks

Adam Walsh, line coach at Notre Dame, was to be the principal speaker at today's sportswriters' luncheon at the Kenmore. The captain and center of Notre Dame's immortal "Four Horsemen" eleven stayed over after the Notre Dame-Dartmouth game in place of Head Coach Ed McKeever, who took in the Giants-Brooklyn game in New York, then took off for South Bend.

Jack Ryder Is Busy B. C. Coach

Although the football team has somewhat overshadowed the other athletics at Boston College during the past few weeks, track coach Jack Ryder has several promising trackmen under his watchful eye as they work out daily.

In addition to Herb McKinley, who is well known for his track victories last season, Coach Ryder is priming Abe King, Negro star at English High, for the high hurdles.

Bob Pasakarnis, formerly of South Boston High, is working out daily on the low hurdles and Paul McGillicuddy, who was a promising candidate for the gridiron team at halfback, has resigned from the squad in order to devote his time to track. McGillicuddy is a graduate and member of the track team of English High.

Phil Terranova And Dell Orto to Meet

Phil Terranova, New York (former N. B. A. featherweight champion), will try to square things tonight when he meets Vince Dell Orto, also of New York, in the feature bout of 10 rounds at the Providence Auditorium. This pair met in the same ring a short time ago, and after ten furious rounds Dell Orto was given the verdict.

Garden Offers Best Of College Fives

A line on the caliber of the basketball teams which will be appearing at the Boston Garden this winter may be gleaned from a study of the college schedule recently released in New York by Ned Irish, basketball director and acting president of the Madison Square Garden.

Ten colleges and universities from all parts of the country will be included in Madison Square and the Boston Garden in their stops this coming winter. Included in the list are Dartmouth, Syracuse University, University of Akron, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, Hamline University of St. Paul, Valparaiso University, the tallest basketball team in the world, averaging six feet, six inches; Long Island University, Brooklyn College, St. Francis and the University of Detroit.

Four other colleges which have appeared at Madison Square Garden in other years which will perform at the Boston Garden this winter are LaSalle College of Philadelphia, Bowling Green State University of Ohio, Westminster College and Geneva College, both from the Pittsburgh area.

Rugged Battle Faces Ruffin

One of the top-ranking lightweights of the country, Bobby Ruffin of New York will be meeting a real tough foe when he tangles with Vince Dell 'Orto of Philadelphia in the 10-round feature of Eddie Mack's bouts at Mechanics Hall Thursday night.

Both have met the best in their class and ring wisemen expect a hot tussle when the two square off.

Without ever having had a shot at a title, Bobby has beaten Beau Jack, Chalky Wright, Richie Lemos, Cleo Shans and battled a draw with Tippy Larkin. He lost questionable decisions to Sammy Angott and Bob Montgomery and gave such an excellent account of himself that the National Boxing Commission lists him as the number one contender for the 135-pound title.

Dell 'Orto, a good Italian-American veteran, will come into the squared circle against Ruffin with a better than even chance of climbing out on top. He too has beaten champions, namely Jackie Callura and Richie Lemos, both of whom held the NBA crown. He gave Willie Pep a scare when he slugged his way for 10 rounds in the champion's city of Hartford and came off second best.

Matching Ruffin and Dell 'Orto was a good break for local fans. It was a bout that Madison Square Garden long had discussed but never could complete. Dell 'Orto beat Ruffin in their only meeting and never since that date could matchmakers get the pair in the same ring.

Sinkwich May Be Lost to Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Frank Sinkwich, the Detroit Lions' left halfback, was in St. Mary's Hospital last night for observation after suffering an attack of appendicitis during the second period of the Lions' National Football League game yesterday afternoon with the Cleveland Rams. Sinkwich had complained of pains during the last two days.

Cleveland Rams Still Unbeaten

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Cleveland Rams, surprise team of the National Pro Football League, won their third straight league game yesterday, erasing Detroit's 17-0 lead to beat the Lions, 20-17, before 21,115 spectators at Detroit. The win put the unbeaten Rams only half a game behind the first place Green Bay Packers in the Western Division.

End Steve Pritko, former Villanova College star, caught a 53-yard forward pass for the winning Cleveland touchdown in the last period. Frankie Sinkwich, Detroit star back who figured in all of the Lions' points, suffered an appendicitis attack during the second quarter and was taken to a hospital for observation.

GIANTS LEAD EAST

Steve Owens' New York Giants took the lead in the Eastern Division by humbling their interborough rivals, the Brooklyn Tigers, 14-7, before 24,854 at Ebbets Field. A 37-yard aerial, Hank Soar to Verlin Adams, in the final period broke a 7-7 tie.

The Chicago Bears ended their two-game losing streak by walloping the Card-Pitt combination, 34 to 7, at Chicago.

Bullfighter Wins Three on a Horse

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Teodulo Espejel, bullfighter turned jockey, rode a triple yesterday at the Mexico City racetrack.

Espejel brought home Michoacan Stables' Busy Maid in the featured Aguacalientes Handicap in 1:27 1-5. His other winners were Border Gal and Keene Jack.

The Lost Weekend

Based on the powerful, best-selling novel of five unforgettable days in a man's life

BY CHARLES JACKSON

They took away the nasty bottle . . .

Don searched for a book to read.

"This is it," he said; the class list ened and one or two made notes.

Drawings copyright, 1944, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Text copyright, 1944, by Charles R. Jackson. Published by Farrar & Rinehart, Inc.

WITH the first drink in his hand, Don sat down to puzzle out the story of the hat and the half-full quart. Sure. Of course. The two ladies in the front apartment. He remembered now the polite little tiff on the stairs—after you; no, after you—and the falling.

They had found his hat and got Dave the janitor to let them in. They cleaned the place—took away the nasty bottle. But with this other, maybe he could smile.

How was it possible that he had only four nickels in his pocket this morning? He knew damned well now that he had more than six dollars when he started out yesterday. Where in God's name was it going to?

The drink warmed him all inside, as usual; and took away the fatigue and jumping nerves, as usual. But easy, there, this was all you had. He poured another and walked over to inspect the bookshelves. Looking over the novels, he thought of the books at home in his father's library that had never been taken away when his father left.

He thought, too, of the letter to his mother which he had found and read, "I will always fondly remember you and the boys." He had run upstairs and flung himself down on the bed and cried his eyes out, weeping for his father. How could he do that to you—?

He took a drink and searched for a book to read or think about. He had an author to whose works he had bound himself as a tribute to the writer he so dearly loved.

He took down "The Great Gatsby" and ran his finger over the fine green binding. "There's no such thing," he said aloud, "as a flawless novel. But if there is, this is it." He nodded. The class looked and listened in complete attention, and one or two made notes. "Don't be fooled by what the Sunday reviewers say of the jazz age et cetera. People will be going back to Fitzgerald one day as they now go back to Henry James."

Don walked back and forth, tapping the book in his hand. "I'd rather have someone say of my writing that it had energy than beauty any day. You can write badly and still be a great novelist . . ." He paused to note the surprised, gratified or puzzled reactions of the students.

"One word more. Fitzgerald never swerves from the rules. "Don't write about anything you don't know anything about. Class dismissed."

He put the book back on the shelf, feeling suddenly very foolish and let down . . .

Five Goalies Seek Bruin Job

QUEBEC CITY, Oct. 16—The golden opportunity of playing the Boston Bruins goal, and succeeding to the position filled for so many years in all star manner by Tiny Thompson and Frank Brimsek, faced five young men today, all of them amateurs, as the Boston Bruins hockey squad started its second day of practice.

The five candidates for the Bruins goaler job are Maurice Courteau, popular net minder of the Boston Olympics last year, a native of Quebec City; Harvey Bennett, 19-year-older from Oshawa, Ont., last season the goaler for the Canadian amateur junior championship Oshawa team; John McInnis, 19, of Toronto; Jim Fodey, 20, of Regina, Sask., and James Pineo, 21, of Halifax, N. S.

Manager Art Ross of the Bruins said today that he does not intend negotiating for any experienced major or minor league goaler. One of those five goalers will play the Bruins' net this season.

SWELL OUTER DEFENSE

For the first time in 16 years, the Bruins had a goal problem a year ago, after the sensational Frank Brimsek went into service with the United States Coast Guard. Bert Gardiner played the Bruins' net most of the year, but he is now in service with the United States Army. Both Courteau and Bennett were at the Bruins camp last season, and Courteau wound up with the Boston Olympics and played three games in the Bruins net.

The Bruins goaler this year can count on a hard hitting defense in front of him, because Dit Clapper, Jack Crawford, Jack Shewchuk and Pat Egan are husky veterans, all outstanding players. Shewchuk is returning to the Bruins after having been discharged from the Canadian Army.

Death Notices

HALL—Suddenly in San Francisco, California, October 10th, Colonel Stuart Gregory Hall, in his 52nd year. Beloved husband of Emily (Mann) Hall. Funeral services at the Arlington St. Church, Boston, Wednesday, October 18th, at 13:00 o'clock.

Newton May Prove Tough Foe for Dashing Malden

By MIKE GILLOOLY

It's been a topsy-turvy season so far in the school football field with three of last season's undefeated squads already spilled from the top. And if the past three weeks have been any criterion a lot more of the high flyers may tumble from their lofty berths.

ED MELANSON AND FOXY FLUMERE, BRAINS BEHIND MALDEN HIGH—They send their Golden Tornadoes against the dangerous Newton High team this week in one of the vital school games of the year. Malden is riding the crest at present.

Malden has assumed the top rank in the scholastic rating by virtue of its stunning defeat of Melrose and now facing the Golden Tornado is Newton—only the first in a long list of formidable opponents for weeks to come.

The Garden City can't be taken lightly. It overpowered Arlington and Rindge before losing to Melrose and then, in one of the most lackadaisical displays of football ever seen, edged out Brockton. That lethargic tempo may be the telltale on things to come.

Coaches, the most superstitious branch of humanity, believe in the creed of lose one, go badly in the next, and then watch out. That third week is the bad one. The bad one for the opponent that is.

MALDEN RESPECTS FOE

That ran true for both Weymouth and Waltham and the second game after defeat was the one when they came back.

Well, on that basis alone Malden is worried. The team read about the Melrose game. They sat in on the Brockton game. And all were agreed that it was the worst brand of football they've ever seen. If the kids go into this Newton game with any ideas that it's going to be a pushover it won't be the fault of head coach Eddie Melanson and line coach Foxy Flumere. This is the one they're worried about.

MALDEN LINE HAS POWER

The Golden Tornados were outstanding against Melrose on Columbus Day and right now they are eyeing the state championship. With Melanson's backfield and Flumere's line, the team looked as though it will achieve its goal. But coachlike, the mentors are afraid of an off day.

But it will take more than an off day to beat this squad. As the situation stands now Melanson is keeping his best passer on the bench. Izzy Yodlin, a sure fire first stringer, contracted yellow jaundice early in the season and has played very little. Now he's ready and it's a problem where to put him. The starting quartet of Belisis, Wagner, Carroll and McIntyre has been outstanding and Melanson besitates to break up a winning combination. Then there are Art Casterline and Al Ruelle, two backs who could make any first team, sitting on the bench.

Up front Flumere's problem isn't so complicated. He has a big, versatile line that can do anything. Four of them are first year men and the other three were lowly subs last season. The four new men are John Gustanian, John Minihan, Bill Hurton and John Finn. The three leftovers are Al Macy, Bill Sasso and co-captain Ralph Gasparella. Foxy also has capable substitutes but these seven starters are by far his best.

Gasparella is the only questionable starter as his shoulder muscles were torn on the holiday. But if he can't make it Dick Verenga will take over the pivot post. Gasparella's loss will be felt as he calls the defensive signals.

Szabo Tackles Plenty of Beef

Sandor Szabo, world's heavyweight championship claimant, will be trying to strengthen his bid for the title when he squares off against the Cardiff Giant, 342-pound Californian, in the feature of Promoter Paul Bowser's weekly wrestling show at the Arena Wednesday night.

Szabo will be matching his slick style against the smashing, two-fisted style of the 6 foot 4 inch challenger.

Three matches on the supporting card will complete the program. The semi-final will find Zeus Wilcheski, former Boston College gridder, returning to the mat against Leo Numa, Seattle; the weekly special will pair Al Tucker, Canada, and Nanjo Singh, India.
